Airport is an airport of entry (AOE) Has a fuel farm however, on busy weekends, they have been known to be out of aviation fuel. When they get low, they try to limit delivery to just enough so that you can get somewhere to get more.

San Felipe

Great airport of entry. Located about 100 miles south of the border, you can land, fuel up, clear immigrations, and be on your way. This is a business first airport and they get things done. Fuel has been a problem so on busy weekends, I would check to confirm that it is available. Regarding town, it is a US$10+- cab ride into town.

San Felipe is a tourist town with most people from the San Diego area. On the seawall, there are shops, shops, and more shops. They also rent three-wheelers and dune buggies. Depending on what you like, spring break just might not be the time to go down.
